Drug Education Policy

Approved: January 2017
Review date: January 2020

1. Rationale

DfE guidance (2012) states that drug education should be part of a well-planned programme of PSHE education delivered in a supportive environment, where pupils are aware of the school rules, feel able to engage in open discussion and feel confident about asking for help if necessary.

Shelton Junior School believes it has a duty to inform and educate young people on the consequences of drug use and misuse. The school takes a pro-active stance on this matter, believing that health education is a vital part of the Personal, Social, Health and Economic Education of every pupil.

2. Definitions of drugs terms

For the purposes of this policy, drugs are defined as the following: all legal drugs including over the counter and prescription medicines, alcohol, tobacco, volatile substances and illegal drugs.

'Drug taking' involves the consumption of any drug.

'Drug use' is drug taking through which harm may or may not occur.

'Drug misuse' is drug taking, which harms health or functioning. It may include physical or psychological dependence or be part of a wider spectrum of problematic or harmful behaviour.

3. Aims of the drug education programme.

At Shelton Junior School our practical definition of drug education is 'the acquisition of knowledge, understanding and skills and exploration of attitudes and values which will enable young people to make informed decisions about their own, and other people's, use of drugs'.

Our educational approach focuses on provision of accurate and balanced information. It accepts that there are different views about drug use and encourages young people to explore a range of views, to develop their own opinions and also to challenge stereotypes. In terms of skill development an educational approach helps young people develop a range of relevant personal and social skills so they can make their own, informed decisions about their own, and other people's, drug use.

We believe and support the following educational aims in respect of substance use and misuse:

- To enable pupils to make healthy, informed choices by increasing knowledge, challenging attitudes and developing and practising skills.
- To provide accurate information about substances.
- To increase understanding about the implications and possible consequences of use and misuse.
- To widen understanding about related health and social issues.

4. A Whole School Approach

A whole school approach will be adopted to drug education that actively involves the whole school community. All groups who make up the school community have rights and responsibilities regarding drugs. In particular:

The senior leadership team (SLT) will endeavour to support the provision and development of drug education in line with this policy by providing leadership and adequate resourcing.

The designated drug education co-ordinator (Sarah Lorimer) will maintain an overview of drug education provision and have overall responsibility for its development. This will include keeping up to date with developments and good practice, developing the provision to meet pupils' needs, providing support and resources for staff, arranging staff training, liaising with outside agencies and monitoring and evaluation.

Teaching staff

Drug education is best led by teachers rather than outside experts. Teachers have an understanding of their pupils, develop a dialogue with them and are accessible on an ongoing basis. Teacher led drug education also avoids the situation whereby drugs are sensationalised and seen by pupils as something teachers cannot talk about. The Designated Safeguarding Lead will ensure that class teachers are informed of any children who are vulnerable where drug misuse by either parent or child is a concern.

Teachers may not have detailed knowledge of drugs. Whilst it is helpful if they have some knowledge about drugs, they do not need to be 'walking encyclopaedias' to successfully teach drug education. Drug education is not just about factual information and many teaching packages include activities which contain relevant drug information for use with pupils. Pupils may sometimes know more about certain drugs than their teachers but this can be put to good use in lessons. If teachers need to know a specific piece of information, they can always find out later, possibly by involving pupils in research. More important than detailed factual information, is feeling confident, developing trust with pupils and having the teaching skills to allow pupils to explore and discuss the many complex issues involved.

All teachers are involved in the school's drug education provision. They teach drug education through the PSHE programme, through science and other curriculum areas. All teachers play an important pastoral role by offering support to pupils. Any teacher can be approached by a pupil who experiences a difficulty regarding drug education issues. Teachers will be consulted about the school's approach to drug education and aided in their work by provision of resources, background information, support and advice from experienced members of staff and access to appropriate training.

Non-teaching staff may be involved in a supportive role in some drug education lessons and also play an important, informal pastoral support role with pupils. They will have access to information about the drug education programme and be supported in their pastoral role.

Governors have responsibilities for school policies. They will be consulted about the drug education provision and policy and have regular reports at Governor's meetings.

Parents/carers have a legal right to view this policy on the school's website. The school's approach to drug education will encourage dialogue between parents /carers and their children.

Outside agencies and speakers may be involved in inputting to drug education lessons and as points of referral as support services for pupils. The school will only work with agencies and speakers who are appropriate to pupil needs. We shall work in partnership with them and jointly plan their work within the school. The school will also promote relevant helping agencies that pupils can access.

Pupils have an entitlement to age and circumstance appropriate drug education and to pastoral support. They will be actively consulted about their drug education needs and their views will be central to developing the provision.

5. The taught Drug education programme

At Shelton Junior School, Drug education is taught in a number of places within the school curriculum.

Science

There is a statutory requirement to deliver an element of the drug education programme through the National Curriculum in Key Stage 2. Pupils should be taught that tobacco, alcohol and other drugs can have harmful effects.

PSHE

At Shelton Junior School the drug education components of the PSHE curriculum are taught using the Cambridgeshire Drug Education programme.

Methodology and resources

A wide range of teaching methods are used that enable pupils to actively participate in their own learning. This includes use of quizzes, case studies, research, role play, video, small group discussion and use of appropriate guest speakers. Occasional use of drama productions also forms part of the programme. Teaching is conducted in a safe learning environment through the use of ground rules and distancing techniques so that pupils are not put on the spot or expected to discuss their own personal issues in class. Teaching resources are selected on the basis of their appropriateness to pupils.

Answering pupils' questions

The school believes that pupils should have opportunities to have their genuine questions answered in a sensible and matter-of-fact manner. However, occasionally a pupil may ask a particularly explicit, difficult or embarrassing question in class. Teachers will use their skill and discretion to decide about whether to answer questions in class and, if so, how. They will establish clear parameters of what is appropriate and inappropriate in class by discussing ground rules with pupils and by taking an approach that encourages pupils to be mature and sensible.

If a teacher does not know the answer to a question they will acknowledge this and suggest that they and pupils research the answer to the question later. If a question is too explicit or inappropriate to answer in class at that moment, teachers will acknowledge it and attend to it later with the pupil who asked it. If a question is too personal teachers will remind pupils about the ground rules and if necessary point out appropriate sources of support. If a teacher is concerned that a pupil is at risk they will follow the school's child protection procedures.

Monitoring and evaluation

The programme is regularly evaluated by the PSHE Leader. The views of pupils and teachers who deliver the programme are used to make changes and improvements to the programme on an ongoing basis.
